Mission and Vision

Mission

Achieve sustainable development through the establishment of productive, development-oriented occupational safety, within the framework of the rule of law, in which employers, workers and organizations at the national and international levels can deliver their contribution.

Vision

Labor is a fundamental right enshrined in our Constitution and in our vision, without them there is no production and technology, so progress and development are not possible. It is the responsibility of all governments to ensure working conditions, and to foster employment. The right to work implies fair income, adequate primary and secondary facilities and social protection, but also continuous education and training in knowledge, skills and laws of a changing world. Professional training courses should be adapted to the needs of the labor market and to the dynamics of new production methods and technological innovations.
